

Nigeria Phone Cards

The Federal Republic of Nigeria is located in West Africa and its capital city is Abuja. The country is well known for its wealth of oil reserves and having spent almost two decades under the military rule the country is now a democracy with a civilian Government at its center.

There was a time when making international calls to Nigeria was unheard of but the concept changed when the prepaid cards came to dominate most of the international calling scenario. Since prepaid cards charge different rates for different countries the rates pertaining to Nigeria if the call is made from western countries is unique to the Nigeria phone cards only and cannot be availed on the prepaid phone cards of other countries. The Nigeria phone cards are similar to the phone cards of other countries in terms of their usage and features and therefore the method of calling also remains the same. Hence a person making an international call to Nigeria through a phone card would begin by dialing the Access Code. The next number which follows is the PIN which is a unique feature of every card. The sequence of numbers is the exit code (00 or 011), the country code (which is 234 for Nigeria), the area code (which is different for every city) and the local Nigerian number respectively.

There are various advantages in using Nigeria phone cards in order to make a call and some of them are listed as follows:

- Being a West African nation Nigeria is yet to catch up with the advancements made in the field of telecommunication and therefore the standard telephone services are often unreliable and of poor quality. A person relying on these services would probably end up wasting money on a call in which not only is he unable to convey but also unable to hear properly what is being said. In these circumstances, a prepaid phone card is the best possible alternative.

- Nigeria has only few telephone offices in which calls can be received or made from and therefore these offices always consist of a long queue which seldom disappears. If a person has a prepaid phone card then the time and the hassle involved in waiting in the long queues is completely avoided.

- The international calls made with the help of prepaid phone cards can be easily monitored and controlled because there is a team of accountants and operators who keep track of the credit limit of the card as well as the number of times it is refilled. Due to this transparent system the caller making a call to Nigeria is sure to get his money's worth in terms of time as well as the quality of communication.

- The prepaid phone card is a better option compared to a land-line phone for traveling business executives who are interested in making calls to Nigeria because they can be easily accounted for and can be used from anywhere.

- The Nigeria phone cards do not have any hidden charges as well as connection fees due to which the rates at which calls are made are extremely reasonable and reliable in addition to being comparable to the domestic rates.

Therefore, Nigeria phone cards represent one of the best forms of communication.
