

Brief lines about QDRO services Atlanta

Divorce affects every aspect of your life. A large part of your life that change is your financial situation. A reality of divorce is that your lifestyle is bound to change, and not for the better. The sooner you can accept this reality, the better off you will be. It may not be permanent, but chances are it will, especially if there is a large disparity between salaries and earning potential. With this in mind, you will need to think through all your financial decisions. If possible, it is best not to make any major purchase, such as a new car, or another residence. It is advised that, before making any kind of large purchase consult your attorney. Sometimes it may have a direct bearing on your case. During a divorce is not the time to act impulsively.

A QDRO preparation is a separate court order awarding a share of the pension to each party in the divorce. Immediately, upon filing for your divorce Atlanta, you must take action on the division of any pension that qualifies for equitable distribution. As the beneficiary of the plan you should contact the plans administrator and request of the summary plan description. Once you obtain this description you can determine your rights under the plan. Each plan is different so you must find out the specific requirements of the pension in order to acquire your portion.

It is attorneys responsibility to prepare the qualified domestic relation order Atlanta. If the divorce QDRO Atlanta is not prepared according to the plan specification it will not be honored. This will cost you additional money in attorney fees as well as putting your distribution at risk. It is very important that all pension issues be settled before the divorce is final. Even if the pension is included in your settlement agreement, and you do not get the divorce QDRO Atlanta, when the divorce is finalized you will have to go back to court to obtain it. This may be putting your share of the pension at risk.

In a recent court decision, if the QDRO preparation is designed and submitted until after the divorce QDRO Atlanta, and your former spouse remarries and retired before the submission, the QDRO may not be enforceable. His or her current spouse would become vested for the surviving spouse benefit.
