The diaper cake can be designed to be as big as a four tier cake or as small as a two layer cake depending on the size that the occasion calls for. Now don't limit yourself to just baby showers, the unique baby shower cake can also be used for birthdays and other occasions; although baby showers are the most popular and often where you will find this item.
Since the diapers are white, you should use vibrant bright colors for decorations on the diaper cake. When decorating your baby shower diaper cake you should understand there are infinite amount of ways to put together ideas for a creative cake.
Tips on Appropriate Baby Shower Cake Wording
A baby shower in honor of the mother-to-be is an joy filled event to celebrate the coming of a much awaited bundle of joy. For a long time baby showers were mainly for the mother to be but now things are different...now things are different. Baby showers are now becoming an event for both parents as they celebrate together.
Because of the significance of the occasion you want to make sure that the baby shower cake wording is appropriate for the occasion. Many find it difficult to find ideas for the cake and typically make the event a little more difficult than it has to be. Now the wording greatly depends on the gender of the new baby as well as who is throwing the party and how many kids will be in attendance. Writing on cakes normally is determined by the type of cake and the size of the cake. Tiered cakes with a cake topper typically has the inscription written on the sides of the tiers where as single layered cakes have them on the top.
Inscription Ideas and Suggestions
Announcing the gender on the cake with an exclamation point is great on a cake if you already know the gender of the baby. "It's a boy!" or "It's a girl!" is a way that the gender are usually announced on cakes. "We're blessed with twins!" and "Welcome Baby!" today are commonly used on baby shower cakes today. Several other examples include "Thank Heaven for Baby (Boys) or (Girls)", "Mommy's Little Girl or Boy", "Pink Or Blue We Love You". Another way to provide writing for a cake is having the parents of the new baby express their feelings of joy and happiness on the cake as the baby shower cake wording.
